Style Changed But Old Home Paper Still Guards Your Destiny

ANCIENT ITEM: Times have changed a bit, although there may be some weekly papers around somewhere which continue to do what a newspaper item printed many, many years ago says they do. And you still see a touch of it in any paper.

Mrs. Margery Rice owns the item, printed on paper that is now dry and brown and breaks into little pieces when handled. It's that old, Times have changed in newspaper style, but a half hundred years or less, much of our newspaper writing was like the story says.

Titled "The Old Home Paper," here is what is written on the now-feeble newspaper:

"From out of the nowhere, through life's storms and trials, on to the Pearly Gates, the Old Home Paper shoves you along. It may not get you through the gates aforesaid but if Saint Peter reads the paper and falls for its contents you get the chance.

"When Dr. Stork deposits your six pounds of red and scuffling cussedness in the home of your unfortunate parents, the Home Paper assumes its helpful, watchful charge of your destiny by adding four pounds of weight and making you a 'fine, ten-pound boy.'

"When, with freckles on your nose and hands the size of hams, you have scratched through high school by the skin of your teeth and the carelessness of your teachers, by the magic of its mendacity the Home Paper makes you a talented young man with a brilliant future."

"That sloppy essay that your brother Bill helped you write and when you inflicted upon a patient and long suffering audience becomes a 'work denoting deep thought and great ability.'

"When you reach young manhood and wander from the old Home Town and through the influence of your Uncle George get the job of driving the bus for the Insect Inn at Bingleville, the Home Paper comes forward and puts you in a 'lucrative position.'

"When you persuade some misguided female to share your miserable fortune it is the Home Paper that reconciles her to her lot until your carelessness lets her get a correct line on you by making of you a 'sterling young business man, handsome and brave.'"

"When middle age has thinned your hair and put your waist line in the lead, the Home Paper brushes the dandruff off your coat, obscures the tobacco juice on your shirt front and makes of you 'a substantial citizen and one of the pillars of the church.'"

The article goes on and on—that article written a long time ago.

BACK TO NOW: This probably should be titled "The Male Dominates," because it would be one of the few times it could be used with accuracy.

Anyhow, down Carrier Mills way Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Hartford have a sow which had 11 pigs July 7. Now that's a lot of pigs but that isn't the story.

Every last one of those pigs was a male. No little sister.

Drink-Crazed Trucker Kills Three In Bar Shooting

FLINT, Mich. (AP)—A drink-crazed truck driver told police today he shot four persons through the head, killing three of them, because "their laughter irritated me."

Kenneth Kuzner, 30, Detroit, entered a local saloon shortly before midnight and sat at the end of the bar for a few minutes. Then he got up and fired "about a dozen" shots from a .38-caliber revolver at the four persons, who were seated in a booth nearby.

The dead were identified as Said Farah, 26, a prominent local grocery wholesaler, his wife, Jeanine, 26, a divorcee who operated a women's clothing store here, James R. Dollar, 26, a student at Flint Junior College, was critically wounded.

Police said he believed Kuzner had interpreted the laughter of the group in the booth as ridicule of him because of his intoxicated condition.

Voters Defeat Saline Conservancy District

1,083 Against Proposition to 449 in Favor

Heaviest Opposition Registered in Eldorado, Rector

A proposition to create a Saline River Conservancy district out of all of Saline county except Brushy township was defeated at the polls yesterday by a vote of more than two to one.

The complete, unofficial vote was 1,083 against and 449 in favor of the proposition. A total of 1,568 persons went to the polls—which is light voting—and a total of 36 ballots were ruled as spoiled.

Heaviest opposition came from Eldorado and Rector townships, whose voters balloted at the Eldorado city hall. The vote there was 493 against and 20 in favor. Also strongly opposed was the Raleigh, Galatia, Tate and Long Branch area.

The Saline River Conservancy district would have created a taxing body, controlled by a board of trustees, which would have guaranteed right-of-way and maintenance costs to secure federal funds for drainage and flood control work in the area. The tax would have been 87 cents on each $1,000 of the full, fair cash value, as equalized.

Vote By Precinct
There were 11 voting places in the county, with all the county except Brushy participating in the election. When boundaries were set, Brushy signified it did not wish to be included.

The vote by precinct:
Precinct 1 (All of Harrisburg township except Pcts. 5, 8, 10 and 11): 148 for, 173 against, 2 spoiled ballots.

Precinct 2 (Precinct 8 at Muddy): 39 for, 0 against, 1 spoiled ballot.

Precinct 3 (Harrisburg 5, 10, 11): 49 for, 39 against, 1 spoiled ballot.

Precinct 4 (Eldorado and Rector): 20 for, 493 against, 24 spoiled ballots.

Precinct 5 (Raleigh and Long Branch): 14 for, 179 against, 2 spoiled ballots.

Precinct 6 (Galatia and Tate): 10 for, 131 against, 5 spoiled ballots.

Precinct 7 (Part of Carrier Mills): 52 for, 3 against.

Precinct 8 (Part of Carrier Mills): 43 for, 17 against.

Precinct 9 (Stonefort): 19 for, 35 against.

Precinct 10 (Mountain and Independence): 69 for, 24 against.

Precinct 11 (Cottage): 5 for, 24 against.

Revoke Parole of Eldorado Youth

The parole of Robert Holbrook, 17-year-old Eldorado youth, was revoked this morning in county court, State's Attorney K. C. Ronalds announced. Judge Traflet Dennis ordered him to serve one year on the state farm at Vandalia.

Young Holbrook, placed on probation March 30 after he admitted stealing from a blind woman in Eldorado, was arrested recently at Morganfield, Ky., and charged with grand larceny in connection with his breaking into an automobile and stealing a number of items.

Morganfield authorities expressed a willingness to turn over the youth to Saline county officers and yesterday Deputy Sheriff James S. Lyon returned him to Harrisburg.

NEW PASTOR AT THE LAND
STREET CHURCH OF GOD is Rev. M. D. DeWitt who came to Harrisburg from Oswego, Kan. He pastored churches in the North and has evangelized in several states. Accompanying him to Harrisburg were his wife, pictured with him above, and two sons, Jerry, 17, and Bernie, 9. Rev. DeWitt was called to replace Rev. J. Andrew Rafferty who passed away May 28 following completion of the new church.

Winner of $32,000 Decides Against Further Risk After Prayer for Guidance

NEW YORK (AP)—Mrs. Catherine E. Kreitzer turned to prayer for guidance on whether to keep $32,000 won answering Bible questions on a television quiz, or risk losing it in trying to double it on a final question.

"I prayed for guidance twice, a few days ago," she said, "and the answer seemed to me to be—take the $32,000 and quit."

Tuesday night she did just that. Early today she drove with her husband, James, 55, a carpenter, to their farm home in Passum Hollow, near Harrisburg, Pa. James Kreitzer had the check for $32,000 in his inside coat pocket, and it will be deposited in the Lemoine, Pa., Trust Co.

Deposit Money in Bank
Mrs. Kreitzer, 54, a grandmother who became nationally famous in answering questions about the Bible on the CBS show "The $64,000 Question," had won the largest cash prize in radio-television history, according to the network.

What will she do with the money?
"Put it away against the time my husband and I aren't able to work," she said. "We aren't going out on any wild spending spree. We've never lived that way and we don't intend to start now."

Mrs. Kreitzer, who is something of a Pennsylvania pixie in her own way, stood the television audience on its ear for about three seconds when she made it appear she would plunge for the $64,000.

She had said before the program that she was having "a lotta fun." When Master of Ceremonies Hal March asked her if she had made up her mind whether to go for $64,000, she said, "I have, sir."

He asked the decision. Mrs. Kreitzer looked pleased. People had been pestering her by phone for a week, from as far as Los Angeles (she even got mail from there), about what she was going to do. Now it was her turn to drag out her answer. She rocked back on her heels.

"Well," she said, "when I went on the show I was very confident." She said she had been confident on the $8,000 question, the $16,000 question, the $32,000 question and she detailed the answers she had given—and then she said: Audience Yells WOW!

"And I'm a little confident that I can answer the $64,000 question." "WOW!" yelled the studio audience, and broke into wild applause.

Mrs. Kreitzer let them finish, and then added: "But I am balancing this confidence with a quotation from Ephesians 4:5, which is, 'Let your moderation be known unto all men.'"

"So . . . I'm going to let my moderation be known and accept the $32,000."

The whole speech was carried off with a showman's timing. Ed Sullivan lost no time in calling her after the show to appear on his TV variety show next Sunday. She said she thought she'd accept.

Mrs. Kreitzer in declining to go further made a Bible error. Her quotation was from Philippians 4:5, not Ephesians. She corrected herself backstage after the show. When reporters asked when she had decided to take $32,000, she sighed and said:

"I'll tell you, I had my mind made up a couple of days ago, fellows." She said she expected to pay about $12,000 in federal taxes. According to accountants that will be about right for a joint return with her husband.

Blonde Ex-Model Dies at End of Hangman's Rope

LONDON (AP)—Pretty blonde ex-model Ruth Ellis died today at the end of a hangman's rope for the Eastern Sunday murder of one of the two lovers with whom she was having simultaneous affairs.

The 28-year-old mother of two children broke down hysterically several times during the long night of waiting for death in dingy Holloway Prison, members of her family revealed.

But she went to the gallows calmly, fortified by a glass of brandy and soothed by Communism administered in the candle-lighted prison chapel by the prison chaplain.

A shining crucifix was affixed to the wall beside the gallows, at her last-moment request.

Outside the walls, 1,000 spectators, many of them agitators for clemency and others idly curious, milled about in the streets until the official notice of execution was nailed to the heavy prison gates.

A street violinist played doleful music.

The one-time model and night-club hostess was reported to have lost her iron nerve while awaiting execution for the crime of passion that provoked the greatest outcry for mercy in recent British history.

Despite thousands of petitions for a reprieve and the intervention of several members of Parliament, the gallows trap was sprung exactly on schedule at 9 a. m.

Mrs. Ellis was convicted of pumping six pistol shots into race driver David Blakely when he told her he was leaving her for the arms of another woman.

New Harmony Marshal Dies In Skirmish

Two Mt. Vernon, Ill., Brothers Are Captured

NEW HARMONY, Ind. (AP)—The New Harmony town marshal died today in a skirmish with two burglars he surprised in a tavern.

Two Illinois brothers were captured at a ferry landing less than two hours later as they tried to flee from the state after a gun battle with a state policeman who came to the marshal's aid.

Ralph Fisher, 45, died as he tried to arrest the burglars just outside the Mount Tavern.

An autopsy at nearby Mt. Vernon showed no evidence of gun wounds, and no evidence of body blows severe enough to cause death.

Dr. William B. Thomas, who performed the autopsy, believed death was caused by exertion in the hand-to-hand struggle with the burglars. Fisher suffered a chronic heart condition, doctors said.

The brothers admitted robbing the tavern and struggling with the marshal, police said. They were charged with second-degree burglary at Mt. Vernon where they were jailed.

They were identified as Lowell Edward Atchison, 27, and his brother, Norman, 31, Mt. Vernon, Ill.

The Atchisons were captured at the Dogtown Ferry near Mt. Vernon, less than 15 miles from here. They surrendered meekly when a lone state policeman aimed a riot gun at them and ordered them from their car.

A cook in a restaurant adjacent to the tavern, Mrs. Earnest Cooper, heard noises in the tavern about 4 a. m. CDT and told a passerby, John Rutledge, 53.

He summoned the town marshal from his home and also alerted a state police trooper, Forrest Cooper.

At the tavern, the brothers overpowered Fisher and took his gun. Before that, they were unarmed. Mrs. Cooper, watching through a restaurant window, said they beat Fisher with the butt of the gun.

Cooper came to the rear of the tavern and saw one man run toward a shed, where their car was hidden. He ordered him to stop. Then the second brother ran from the tavern and fired twice—with the marshal's gun—at the trooper.

Complete Final Plans for Ozark Tour; Begins Sunday

Final plans for the 25th annual Ozark Tour to begin Sunday promise that it will be one of the best. Points of interest along the Trail Memorial Ozark Trail rank with the finest in the state and will include the highest peaks, cliffs and bluffs, also the deepest bluff-walled canyon waterway.

Every meal on this year's tour is to be served by ladies of the rural churches. These bounteous examples of southern hospitality have long been popular with the Ozarkers.

The headline feature of the silver anniversary of the founding of the Ozark Tours by the late Col. L. O. Trigg, Eldorado publisher will be the dedication and unveiling of a bronze tablet in his honor. This will be at 2 p. m. on Sunday July 17, about 20 miles southwest of Harrisburg on U. S. Highway 45 one-fourth mile south of the road to Ozark, L. E. (Buck) Sawyer, a veteran of the early Ozark Tours will introduce other veteran Ozarkers.

Curtis Small will make the dedicatory address and the 3½ year old great-granddaughter of Colonel Trigg will do the unveiling. Old neighbors, relatives and friends of Colonel Trigg will be there to witness the ceremony. Shaded, comfort able seats will be furnished by Earl Thornton of Stonefort, another veteran Ozarker.

The Eddyville Scenic Sites Association Inc., recently founded with the encouragement of L. A. Dearinger of Mt. Vernon, Wayman Presley of Makanda and Southern Illinois Incorporated, will assist in the rest of the day's events. Friends of the October Sunday Auto Tours and the Spring Flower Tours are expected. Reservations for the $1.25 dinner at the Eddyville school, about 6 p. m. Sunday or guide assistance earlier in the day should be sent to Coy King Eddyville.

There are still a few seats open on the bus for the 3-day Ozark Tour at $29.99 per person. Write OZARK TOURS, Box 433, Harrisburg or phone 812-R.

Survivors Tell of Avalanche on Mountain Peak Which Carried Seven Boys to Death

BANFF, Alta. (AP)—The survivors of an avalanche which carried seven teen-aged Americans to their deaths told today how the roaring mass of rock and snow hit them as they descended from the top of the 11,636-foot mountain.

The tragedy occurred above the 9,500-foot mark of the peak, about 30 miles from Banff.

Only 4 of the 11 boys roped together for an attempt on the peak survived. Two were in a hospital today with serious head injuries.

The two uninjured youths were identified by Royal Canadian Mounted Police as Tony Woodfield, 16, of Rye, N. Y., and Peter Smith, 13, of Paoli, Pa. Injured and in "fair condition" were Fred J. Ballard, 13, Philadelphia, and Theodore Clattenburg, 14, Philadelphia. The dead were identified as: John Townsend Balis, 13, Philadelphia.

Miles Mardle, 12, Collegeville, Pa.

Luther Seddon, 13, St. Louis, Mo.

William Watts, 16, Whitewater, Pa.

William Wise, 15, Souderton, Pa. Tell Harrowing Tale

The bodies were brought out in baskets and by pack horse and moved to Calgary early today from Banff. The accident happened about 4 p. m. Monday.

The two boys on the rope who escaped uninjured told a harrowing tale of trying to help their dying comrades.

Woodfield was the anchor man. He heard the slide coming and dug in, but he saved only himself as the rope broke. Smith was caught by the tail of what mountaineers called "only a small slide."

"I got up and the tail of the slide knocked me down again," Smith said. "Then I ran to some gravel where I knew I'd be safe."

"When the tail of the slide passed I unwound the rope which had almost choked me and looked around. There were bodies all around me. At first, I thought I was the only one capable of walking around, but I heard Willie Wise yelling for help and went over to him."

"There wasn't much I could do," said the boy. Wise died soon after.

Used Clothes to Cover Boys
Woodfield said he stayed where he was for about 15 minutes after being enveloped in a cloud of snow. Then he started cautiously down the slope and stumbled on the others.

"I spent about an hour trying to dig one of them out, but I couldn't do it," he said. "Then I went over and tried to make the rest of them comfortable."

"Watts was completely buried. I heard him crying under the snow. I used my shoe to dig him out and got him all uncovered but one leg."

Woodfield said he took all his clothing off but his trousers and used it to cover the boys who were still alive.

John Balis, one of the 11 boys in the Wilderness Club of Philadelphia group who did not make the last try, said, "We could hear them screaming, but we couldn't reach them with supplies. Then the Rangers came and told us not to try."

Folsom Named Her Successor By Eisenhower

President Accepts Resignation In Public Ceremony

WASHINGTON (AP)—Mrs. Oveta Culp Hobby resigned today as secretary of health, education, and welfare.

President Eisenhower selected Marion B. Folsom, undersecretary of treasury, to be her successor.

Mr. Eisenhower accepted the Texas-born and bred Mrs. Hobby's resignation in an extraordinary public ceremony at the White House before a crowded room of reporters and photographers.

As Mrs. Hobby stood by, the President paraphrased Secretary of Treasury George M. Humphrey and bade an admittedly sad farewell to Mrs. Hobby by dubbing her "the best man in the Cabinet."

Folsom, 61-year-old former executive in the Eastman Kodak Co. at Rochester, N. Y., will be formally nominated later in the day.

Mrs. Hobby's departure from the Cabinet has been expected for some time. The administration has sought to depress the idea, voiced particularly in Democratic circles, that her departure would be due to her handling of the Salk polio vaccine program.

Praised By President
Mr. Eisenhower has praised her publicly for a "magnificent" job in handling the vaccine program. He said she is being forced to leave government service because of the illness of her husband, W. P. Hobby of Houston, Tex., former governor of Texas.

Mrs. Hobby, second woman Cabinet member in the nation's history, issued a statement expressing "regret" and a deep sense of sadness in leaving government service.

But she said she leaves with the knowledge that "this government is being guided by men and women of high principle who are capable, dedicated and selfless with their time and energy."

She lauded President Eisenhower's "strength, vision and leadership." She also praised her Cabinet colleagues and the men and women in her department as "public servants of a high order."

Mrs. Hobby's resignation was announced under blazing movie floodlights in the White House conference room just outside the President's office. Mr. Eisenhower, looking quite grave, escorted Mrs. Hobby into the room. She was caressed in a small flowered coolie hat with a coat dress costume in beige brocade.

Informal President in January
As the President seated down in a high armchair, he turned to Mrs. Hobby and said "Oveta, this is a sad day."

He recalled their first meeting in 1942 in London when Mrs. Hobby was head of the Women's Army Corps.

He went on to praise her for having devoted her talents in the Cabinet to the benefit of the country "most effectively."

Mrs. Hobby later told reporters that she informed the President in January that she would have to leave the government. Asked whether the polio vaccine controversy—which did not begin until months later—"forced" her out, she said, "nothing could be further from the truth."

MRS. HOBBY TO HEAD HOUSTON POST

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—The Houston Post announced today that Mrs. Oveta Culp Hobby, who resigned today as secretary of health, education and welfare, will become president of the Post Publishing Co.

Mrs. Hobby's husband, former Gov. W. P. Hobby, now president of the publishing firm, will become chairman of the board when Mrs. Hobby returns to Houston.

Hobby, 77, has been in failing health.

Ridgway Man Dies

Melton Smith, 64, resident of Ridgway, died in the Pearce hospital in Eldorado yesterday evening.

He is survived by his wife, Eva, and a stepson, Leroy Odum, of Eldorado.

The body will lie in state at the Cox funeral home in Ridgway until time for the funeral, plans for which have not been made.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY
At the hand of every man's brother will I require the life of man.—Gen. 9:5.

Over-Anxiety Major Threat to Vacationists

DETROIT — The biggest threat motorists getting ready for the annual vacations face is their own over-anxiety, according to automotive safety engineers.

The experts said motorists are lured into taking unnecessary chances, driving faster than usual and trying to keep a time-table they've set for themselves.

Brakes, lights, windshield, horn wheel alignment and signal lights should be checked particularly close before a trip.

But safety experts said "rushing" and "over-anxiety" will spoil the best planning in having a car in condition.

They also warn against night driving, since two out of every three fatal accidents happen between dusk and dawn.

Michigan has 500 islands, most of them in Lakes Erie, St. Clair, Huron, Michigan and Superior.

The WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

by DREW PEARSON

DREW PEARSON says: McCarthy's Old Wisconsin Friend Appointed White House Adviser; McCarthy's Old Assistant Slated For Key Post In FCC; Friends Of Allen Toll Carry On McCarthy Tactics.

WASHINGTON — Senator McCarthy recently was given a crushing 77-4 defeat in his efforts to hamstring and embarrass like at the Big Four conference, but the friends and isms he trained and fostered are a long way from dead in the nation's capital.

Here are three quick news shots which indicate how McCarthyism still thrives in the following places: 1. Right inside the White House—McCarthy's closest congressional friend, ex-Congressman Charles Kersten, of Wisconsin, has just been appointed a White House aide at $50 a day.

Kersten, a Republican, was defeated for re-election last fall in the wave of anti-McCarthyism that swept some parts of Wisconsin, and since then has been looking for a job. First he applied to the state department, but got nowhere.

Now, strangely, he has turned up as a $50-a-day adviser to the White House on the direct staff of Nelson Rockefeller, in charge of Eisenhower's psychological warfare. Rockefeller has vigorously opposed McCarthy and all he stood for, and White House insiders say he didn't want to take on the strong McCarthy supporter. However it was considered good political strategy.

Kersten is the man who brought the quickie divorce case of Kordas vs. Kordas before McCarthy when he was a local Wisconsin judge. 2. Inside the Federal Communications Commission — some time ago, when Christian L. Rogers, former aide to McCarthy, was appointed assistant to Chairman McConaughy of the FCC, it was hotly denied that Rogers would have any influence.

Already two friends of McCarthy are FCC commissioners. Robert E. Lee, who helped mastermind McCarthy's below-the-belt campaign against Senator Tydings of Maryland; and John Doerfer of Wisconsin who had McCarthy's support for FCC appointment. On top of this, Rogers, who had been on McCarthy's staff, was appointed assistant to the new chairman.

Despite denials that Rogers would have any influence, he's now slated to fill one of the key positions in the entire FCC—chief of the Broadcast Bureau.

In charge of the Broadcast Bureau at present is Curtis Plummer, a Republican from Maine. Plummer, however, was appointed by the Democrats and, although a good Republican, was promoted by the Democrats. Therefore he is suspect, and will be sent "to Siberia," probably in charge of the the Safety and Special Radio Services.

The man who will take his place, McCarthy's old staff member, will then become the man who rules upon what applicants will receive radio licenses and TV licenses worth millions. It's the most important job in the FCC aside from being a member of the commission itself.

3. Inside the Small Business Administration — the other day Wendell Barnes, a large and perspiring gentleman from Tulsa, Okla., who's now head of the Small Business Administration, was being cross-examined by the Senate Civil Service committee, busy of late delving into the so-called security risks fired by Eisenhower and the sometimes high-handed manner in which they were fired.

"What is the address of George V. McDavitt?" Barnes was asked. "Do I have to answer?" the large man from Oklahoma looked almost beseechingly at Senator Olin Johnston of South Carolina, who presided.

"You were asked the question," replied Chairman Johnston. Barnes reached into his hip pocket. His hand shook as he pulled out a notebook with the address of George McDavitt at 2101 S. Street in Washington.

McDavitt is the chief security officer of the Small Business Administration who, it was claimed, was firing Civil Service employees as security risks in Nazi fashion merely because he wanted to make room for political friends. His address—which may explain why Barnes was so reluctant to reveal it—was the building owned by the famous American Fascist and anti-Semite, Allen Zoll.

Zoll is founder of the American Patriots, listed on the attorney general's list of subversives as a fascist, and the fact that the security officer charged with scrutinizing alleged security risks in the Small Business Administration appeared to be on good terms with Zoll disturbed the senators — it is did also Barnes.

ZOLL'S RECORD
Zoll has quite a record. He picked Radio Station WMCA in New York when it refused to permit

Father Coughlin to broadcast. He raised money for Merwin K. Hart and for Joe Kamp's Constitutional Educational League. With the cooperation of McCarthy's friend, J. B. Matthews, he published the Educational Guardian. Later, in an anonymous coauthorship with Matthews, he published "How Red is the Federal Council of Churches," also worked for the Arab cause in regard to Palestine and claimed credit for firing Willard Goslin as superintendent of schools in Pasadena, Calif., as a result of integration. In the 1952 campaign, Zoll hung out in Gerald L. K. Smith's headquarters working for the nomination of General MacArthur.

McDavitt has testified that he first met Zoll in 1949, rented a room in his building in 1954, would not talk about whether his ex-wife once worked for Zoll, said he kept files on 75,000 persons, many of them not in government.

That's how another disciple of McCarthyism is operating in Washington.

WASHINGTON PIPELINE

Secretary Benson has been predicting privately that the Senate will not act this year on rigid farm supports. Government inspectors have found that some yellow dyes, used in margarine, are harmful to the health. However margarine producers have come up with a new product, called acetin margarine, which will offer better competition to butter. It won't go rancid, or melt when hot. The Pentagon reports that the famed British Royal Air Force is in bad shape. Because the British have been concentrating on turning out commercial airliners, the RAF actually has fewer dependable fighters now than during the Battle of Britain. To bolster British air defenses, the United States will soon give the British some of the latest American Sabrejet fighters and B-52 jet bombers.

Shriners Rest After Parade; Pageant Tonight

CHICAGO — Gene Tunney and Jack Dempsey will relive their famous "long-count" championship fight of 1928 at the Shrine convention "Shrinersama" pageant tonight.

But today the Shriners themselves took a long count to rest up from Tuesday's seven-hour parade down Michigan Avenue in which nearly 25,000 participated.

The pageant will be staged in Soldier Field, the site of the 1927 Tunney-Dempsey match which Tunney won in a 10-round decision. The match drew 104,943 fans with a record gate of $2,658,660.

Former Presidents Herbert Hoover and Harry S. Truman and others will be cited for their contributions to Americanism at the pageant. Mr. Hoover, however will be unable to attend.

Tunney and Dempsey will appear in replicas of the boxing garb they wore 27 years ago in a ring set up on the same site.

The pageant also will feature a 1,000 piece band, drill teams, circus acts and a $10,000 fireworks display.

Mr. Truman will speak tonight at a dinner for past imperial potentates of the Ancient Arabic Order of Nobles of the Mystic Shrine prior to the pageant.

Proceeds from the affair, expected to attract an estimated 65,000 persons, will be used to finance the 17 crippled children's hospitals supported by the Shrine across the nation.

After two days of shenanigans by the Shriners, capped by their biggest parade Tuesday, the more serious business got underway this morning. The 81st session of the imperial council was called to order at 9:30 a. m. COT.

The new imperial potentate, Walter C. Guy, Little Rock, Ark., will be installed Thursday to succeed Frank Land, Kansas City, Mo.

Another parade is scheduled for Thursday night. The conclave will disband Friday.

TRAGIC NOTE MARS SHRINERS' PARADE

CHICAGO — A tragic note marred the seven-hour parade of the Shrine convention Tuesday when Ben Hipthman, 46, Clarksburg, W. Va., collapsed and died during the march.

Hipthman was dead on arrival at St. Luke's Hospital apparently the victim of a heart attack.

Insurance Firm Reports New Lower Rates

New low auto insurance rates began this week for most Illinois policyholders of one leading auto insurance company. Car owners insured by State Farm Mutual Automobile Insurance company, Bloomington, will save over $700,000 yearly, compared with their previous rates, according to Myrel Cozart, local agent for the company.

Biggest savings will go to pleasure cars with no male operator under age 25 and to older model cars. Mr. Cozart stated. Rates for liability coverage will now be figured by State Farm Mutual under a new four-group plan, based on age of male drivers and pleasure or business use of car. The age of female drivers does not affect State Farm rates.

A new "Step Down Plan" for comprehensive and collision insurance drops State Farm's rates twice for these insurance coverages, once when the car is two model years old and again when it is four model years old. Thus, the "Step Down Plan" cut rates immediately for 1952 and 1953 models, and even more substantially for 1951 and older cars. Also, comprehensive rates are reduced for some 1954 and 1955 models.

For commercial vehicles, most comprehensive and collision rates are reduced, some substantially. Most liability rates on commercial vehicles remain the same.

Under the new liability rates, there are substantial reductions throughout the state for pleasure cars with no male operator under age 25. Rates are increased for family cars with an occasional (not principal) male driver under 25, and for business use cars. Where the male owner or male principal operator is under 25, the increase is substantial, except for husbands age 21-24 living with spouse.

Currently, more than 225,000 Illinois motorists are insured with State Farm Mutual, the report shows. Nation-wide, State Farm Mutual now insures more than 3,400,000 cars, and has led all other companies for thirteen years in number of cars insured.

Liability is the coverage that protects motorists when they are legally liable for injury or damages caused to others. Comprehensive pays for loss of or damage to an insured car from almost any cause except collision or upset, while collision pays for collision or upset damage.

State Farm Mutual began business in Bloomington in 1922. Today, the company and its life and fire insurance affiliates are represented in Illinois by more than 435 agents located throughout the state.

Unlike many insurance companies, State Farm Mutual figures its own rates independently. The rates are based on the accident records of State Farm policyholders only and not from the accident experience of other insurance companies.

Boy, 13, Admits Savagely Beating 4-Year-Old Girl

FREMONT, Neb. — "It was just something that came over me."

Thus a slightly-built 13-year-old boy today explained his savage beating of a 4-year-old girl who resisted his sexual advances.

The girl, Susan Cline, was left screaming in pain in a clump of bushes Tuesday.

She was hospitalized with a broken leg, bruises and cuts.

The boy, whose name was withheld because of his age, appeared unemotional but dazed at times as he told how he spotted Susan while riding along the street on his bicycle.

The youth's confession ended speculation that the girl might have been a victim of the same assailant who raped and killed 21-month-old Donna Sue Davis Sunday night at Sioux City, Iowa—about 70 miles north of here.

The park in which the Cline girl was found is adjacent to the U. S. 77, which connects Fremont with South Sioux City, Neb., where the Davis girl's body was found late Monday.

It was the third sexual attack on a little girl in this area in the last 48 hours. At Des Moines, Iowa, a 26-year-old man was arrested for molesting a 7-year-old girl.

American Farm Experts Leave for Tour of Russia

NEW YORK (AP)—A delegation of 13 American agricultural experts left New York Tuesday night for a goodwill inspection tour of farms in the Soviet Union.

The farmers, agricultural college men and government officials promised to keep "open minds and unplugged ears" during their visit. A similar delegation from Russia will tour the Midwest United States farm belt at almost the same time.

Radio Moscow said Tuesday night the Russian tour had left for the United States. The Russians are expected to arrive in Washington Saturday or Sunday.

The Americans were scheduled to land in London today.

Mrs. Dovey Flemmings Dies in Wilmoth Addition

Mrs. Dovey Flemmings, 72, who had resided in Harrisburg for 24 years, died yesterday at 10:15 p. m. at the home of her sister, Mrs. Willie Lowe, in Wilmoth Addition.

She was the daughter of the late John and Anna Lightsey and was born in Centerville, Ala. She was a member of the Mt. Pleasant Baptist church.

The body is at the Keathly funeral home in Harrisburg and funeral plans are incomplete.

Rigid Enforcement Credited for Boost in Cigaret Tax

SPRINGFIELD — State Revenue Director Richard J. Lyons today credited rigid enforcement of tax laws for a boost in the state's cigarette tax yields in the face of a "lung cancer scare" and a drop in the number of smokers.

Cigaret tax revenue for the first six months of 1955 totaled $15,156,529, compared to $14,967,254 for the same period last year.

But a survey by the National Cancer Institute indicated about one and one-half million Americans have quit smoking in the last 18 months, primarily because of fearing lung cancer.

Lyons had no specific figures for the number of Illinoisans who gave up smoking, but there "must be quite a bunch in Illinois," he said. The cancer institute survey, made at the request of the U. S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare, indicated about 38 million Americans are regular cigarette smokers, about 25 million men and 13 million women.

"Cigaret tax revenues are dropping in other states," Lyons said. The reason a similar drop has not occurred in Illinois is enforcement, he claimed.

Lyons said a concentrated attack on cigarette tax stamp counterfeiting has been "extremely successful."

"We haven't seen a pack of cigarettes with a counterfeit stamp on it for eight months... we have it stopped cold," he said.

Dismiss Contempt Action Against Mt. Vernon Oil Operator

MOUNT VERNON, Ill. — A contempt of court action against Waller J. McGlassen, Mount Vernon oil operator, has been dismissed by Circuit Judge Charles T. Randall.

Dismissal of the contempt petition Tuesday followed McGlassen's payment of $350 to the county to cover costs of an investigation into his charges that he was kidnapped.

Two St. Louis men were arrested on his complaint, but charges against them were dropped May 16 after McGlassen failed to appear before a grand jury to press his case.

Miss Yuvetta June Wertz, Marshall Ralph Lane Wed at Gaskins City on July 10

Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Ralph Lane

Announcement is being made of the wedding of Miss Yuvetta June Wertz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Farrar, 95 Frantz Street, Lawrenceburg, Ind., and Marshall Ralph Lane, son of Mrs. Nellie M. Lane, which took place Sunday July 10, at 3 p. m. at the General Baptist church in Gaskins City. The Rev. Bob Biggerstaff officiated at the double ring ceremony.

The church was beautifully decorated with baskets of white glad loli, candelabra and sprigs of jade and emerald.

The bride chose for her wedding a waltz length gown of white silk crystallette over white satin fashioned with a fitted bodice trimmed with seed pearls and crystals at the neckline. Her fingertip veil of illusion edged in lace was secured to a headpiece of orange blossoms. She carried a crescent bouquet of stephanotis and glamelia.

Mrs. Peggy Ann Lane, aunt of the bride, was matron of honor wearing a ballerina length frock of pale orchid net over taffeta and carrying a bouquet of orchid and ivy.

Bridesmaids were Mrs. Denita Jones, bride's aunt, and Mrs. Maudene Cook, groom's aunt. They wore identical gowns of blue net over taffeta. They carried bouquets of yellow glamelia and ivy. J. C. Lane, Enfield, the bride groom's brother, was best man and ushers were W. E. Lane Crossville, and Leo Jones, Union Lake, Mich.

Mrs. Leota Tucker, accompanied by Miss Carla Stuby at the piano, sang "Always," "The Lord's Prayer" and "Because of You."

The bride's mother chose a navy blue street length dress with white accessories and a corsage of white carnations, and Mrs. Lane wore a navy blue silk with navy accessories and a white carnation corsage.

Following the wedding a reception was held in the basement of the church. Hostesses were Mrs. Carl W. Reid, Lawrenceburg, Ind., Mrs. John Jones, Harrisburg, Mrs. Jerome Jones, Mrs. Eldon Shover

China's Wall Just History Now

HONG KONG — The Communists say that the Great Wall of China is still looked on by the Chinese people as a symbol of defense of China against aggression from the north.

The current issue of People's China said that "bordering China's northern frontier today lie the People's Republic of Mongolia and her great ally, the Soviet Union," and added:

"But, while the Great Wall has outlived its original purpose, it is still looked on by the Chinese people as a part of their heritage — a wonderful piece of architecture, a thing of beauty and an historical treasure."

The Great Wall is popularly known as Wan Li Chang Cheng — the 10,000 li wall (a li is about a third of a mile), but its actual length has never been calculated accurately. It has been roughly estimated at 3,000 miles.

It is said to have been started about 2,500 years ago, in the latter part of the Chou Dynasty. The feudal lords and princes, engaged in constant war against each other, built walls on their frontiers to defend their own territories.

Then, in 221 B. C., the magazine said, Shin Huang Ti, the first emperor of the state of Chin, succeeded in defeating all rivals and creating an empire. He then ordered up an army of 300,000 workmen to build a continuous wall to defend the northern marches of his empire against nomadic invaders.

It took 10 years to complete the wall. Thus the wall as a whole has a history of over 2,000 years.

From then on the Great Wall was China's strong defense against attack from the north, the magazine said. And since then the wall has been frequently repaired and extended. The article said:

"The wall as we know it today has an average height of 21 feet eight inches. It is 21 feet, four inches wide at the base, slightly tapering to 18 feet at the top. The wall of the wall is really a roadway flanked by a battlement on the far side, and a low, one-yard-high wall on the near."

"If we take the length as 3,000 miles, the actual wall, exclusive of the foundation, must consist of some 115,000,000 cubic yards of lime and packed earth, and close on 38,000,000 cubic yards of stone and brick."

Baruch Limp from Accident After Back Flip While Swimming

WASHINGTON — Bernard M. Baruch, 85-year-old New York financier, showed up at the White House today limping from an accident he suffered while trying to make a back dive into a swimming pool.

Baruch called on President Eisenhower to chat about the forthcoming Big Four meetings, but his swimming pool performance dominated the attention.

Easing himself gingerly into a taxi, Baruch — wearing a broad-brimmed southern planter's straw hat — said, "When you are 85, don't try a back flip."

"I hate to see this in the papers," he said, "because people will think that only a fool at the age of 85 would try diving backwards."

On the serious side, Baruch declined to discuss what he talked to the President about, adding that it would be improper to tell a chief executive what he should do.

Woman is Killed, Four Hurt in Crash

PONTIAC, Ill. (AP) — A Taylorville woman was killed and four persons were injured Tuesday when a truck plowed into a line of vehicles halted at a road construction project on U. S. 66.

State police said the truck driven by Gerald F. Justice, 23, Petersburg, crashed into the rear of a southbound auto of Hugo Hawser, 46, St. Louis, knocking it off the highway into a ditch.

The truck then hit the next auto in the line, driven by Mrs. Elizabeth Mazzotti, 45, wife of a prominent Taylorville businessman. Her car in turn smashed into the next one, and it hit a pickup truck at the front of the lineup.

Mrs. Mazzotti was killed. Injured were her 17-year-old son, Richard; Barbara Ann Tarrant, 16, Taylorville; Helen Barclay, 45, Oak Park, one of the drivers, and Hawser.

Police said none of the injured was in serious condition today.

Gov't Releases More Vaccine

NEW YORK — Shipment of nearly one million shots of Salk polio vaccine will begin today to states where second-round inoculations are under way or scheduled, the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis announced.

First shipments were expected to go to Texas, Oklahoma, West Virginia and Missouri.

The vaccine involved is about 224,000 cubic centimeters of Wyeth Laboratories vaccine released by the Public Health Service last week and 720,000 ccs. of Eli Lilly vaccine released Tuesday. A cubic centimeter is enough for one dose.

First electrocution for murder took place at Auburn prison, New York, on Aug. 6, 1890.

State Employees' Pay Raise Bill Marked 'Dead'

SPRINGFIELD — The State employees pay raise bill, supposedly passed by the Legislature, today was marked "dead" because somebody "overlooked" two amendments in the General Assembly.

The discovery that the main bill for the pay raise was incomplete will require Gov. William G. Stratton to veto a second bill for the pay raise on grounds that it is unconstitutional.

The governor had said the pay raise bill, which would have cost the state at least as much as the 12 1-2 million dollars to be appropriated, was one of those outside his budget which he was considering vetoing.

The bill now marked dead provided for immediate pay raises in the 22 salary classifications. The pay raises ranged up to 25 per cent and averaged about 10 per cent. The bill made numerous changes of positions between salary classes.

The second bill contained the 12 1-2 million dollar appropriation and provided for raises within salary limits of each class every six months for the next 4 to 11-2 years.

Since the first bill, which actually provided for the new salary limits, is dead, the second bill is worthless since it is unconstitutional.

Data in the House clerk's office showed the following sequence of events on June 30, the final day of the Legislature when bills were traveling back and forth between the Senate and House at a dizzying rate.

The Senate had passed the pay raise bill, House Bill 1104, but it came back to the House with 10 Senate amendments attached. The House had to vote on whether to accept these.

The original notes of Asst. Clerk Robert Willis for the June 30 House session show Rep. Noble W. Lee (R-Chicago), head sponsor of the pay raise bill, moved that the House concur in Senate amendments 1, 2, 3 and 8. This was approved, 124-0.

Lee then moved the House non-concur in amendments 4, 5, 6, and 7 and the House agreed by voice vote. These amendments went back to the Senate which receded, killing them.

But Lee, according to the notes, which will be used for the official House journal, made no mention of Senate amendments 9 and 10. "Therefore, this bill is dead," the clerk's office wrote.

Michigan Approves State Aid Under Guaranteed Pay Plan

LANSING, Mich. — The CIO United Auto Workers' new guaranteed wage plan cleared its biggest hurdle today when the state of Michigan put its approval on the supplemental payments to idle workers.

Atty. Gen. Thomas Kavanagh ruled that the private payments—set up in the new contracts between the union and Ford and General Motors—were legal under state unemployment compensation laws.

HAPPY TEARS — Patricia Ann O'Kane, 19, of Valley Stream, N. Y., wipes tears of joy from her eyes after winning the title of "Miss New York, 1955" at Palisades Park, N. J. The blonde beauty is 5 feet, 8 inches tall, weighs 138 pounds and measures 36, 24, 36.

11 Killed in Plane Crash

MERCED, Calif. (AP) — A four-engine Air Force tanker, loaded with 6,000 pounds of jet fuel, crashed today a few minutes after taking off from Castle Air Force Base, killing 11 crewmen.

Air Force authorities said the plane, attached to the 93rd Wing, was on a routine refueling flight. The crash occurred about six miles north of the air base in a grain field.

An eyewitness of the crash, Wilma Nelson of Cressey, said the plane was quite low when an engine suddenly burst into flames.

"It looked like the pilot was trying to make a forced landing in the grain stubble field. The plane exploded when it hit the ground and threw bodies all over the place."

A rancher, R. W. Stratton, said he reached the scene a few minutes later and found most of the bodies thrown out in front of the wrecked plane.

Stratton said all the bodies "were burned to a crisp."

THE STORY: In an attempt to capture a murder suspect who had attempted to blackmail Private Detective Mike Shayne, a dummy package containing a small bomb was turned over to the suspect. As a result the suspect's car plunged into the bay. Mike is nearby in a rowboat. When police arrive he helps search for the submerged car.

chael planned if the guard fence hadn't happened to be down right at that point."

"It was set for 10 seconds after you pulled the pin," the reporter explained. "Mike wanted to give you time to get out of the way, but he couldn't risk giving him time to pick it up and examine it." He shrugged wearily. "Now he's going to have a time explaining to the police what he was doing in a rowboat right where the accident happened. The cop who fixed the bomb for him was plenty curious, though he didn't ask many questions at the time. But if he ever adds things up and gets the right answer." He shrugged again as he left the end of the Causeway and turned toward Lucy's address.

Rourke followed her to the foyer where she unlocked an inner door and preceded him up one flight of stairs.

Rourke went to the telephone and dialed a number. He asked for the City Desk when he got an answer, then asked casually, "Got anything yet on a car that went over the County Causeway into the drink about half an hour ago? This is Tim Rourke."

He listened, nodding his head without much interest until he perked to attention suddenly.

"Are you sure about that?"

He listened again, then said tensely, "Ed. Put every man you can rust out into checking that story and trying to get hold of the fellow. I'm at this telephone number."

"A gas bomb with a slight charge of explosive," he told her moodily. "We had to figure it out fast, and Mike got Will Gentry's top explosives man to put it together for him. The explosion wasn't meant to be much, but the gas should have knocked him unconscious before he could stop the car and get out. It figured good," he went on angrily.

"Maybe it didn't go off soon enough. I pulled the knob and threw it in." She shuddered at the recollection. "He accelerated so fast. He must have been going 40 when it happened. Even then, it might have worked the way Mi-car parked in front. He climbed the stairs and she met him in the hallway outside her lighted door.

He caught her slender body to him in a hard embrace, kissed her lips and muttered huskily, "No body's fault, Angel."

"I stayed until they got the sedan out. No body in it. He must have drifted out an open window and floated away."

"No, Michael!" Lucy's voice was hopeful as she interrupted him. "We don't think he's dead at all."

"That's right, Mike. The strong reason to believe the driver of the car was thrown out before it went over the edge, and taken away unconscious by a motorist before the police got there. I'm trying to have the story verified and the man located before the cops reach him."

Michael Shayne stood stock-still, looking from one to the other his weary brain tried to assimilate this information, to see how it changed the present picture, to determine whether it was good or bad, whether it should change his decision to go at once to Gentry with the whole story.

"He'll know that we tried to trick him... capture him with a gas bomb. And there's still the woman waiting to tell her story." He glanced at his watch. "In exactly 52 minutes, the way he warned me he had it set up, the police will start asking her questions."

Jukes, Dairy Brand, James Win Kiwanis Games

By David Nelson

The Jukes downed the Wildcats, 15-4; James Bros. defeated Sugar Creek, 14-2, and Dairy Brand crushed Pankey's, 16-4, in Kiwanis league baseball games played Tuesday.

The Jukes led all the way, scoring three in the first, eight in the second, three in the third and one in the fourth in downing the Wildcats, 15-4.

The Wildcats scored once in the second, three in the third on five hits, two errors and six walks.

The Jukes had 12 hits and were helped by an error and eight bases on balls.

Rauh led the winners at bat with two triples, a double and a single. Schureman had a double and single, Maynard and Furlong had two singles each and Biggs and Moore collected a single apiece to round out the Jukes' hitting attack.

Oglesby had a double and a single, and Stricklin, White and Ozco collected a single each for the Wildcats.

Furlong was the winning pitcher and E. Henshaw was the loser.

Shelton and Boyett homered as James Bros. defeated Sugar Creek, 14-2.

James Bros. scored three in the first, two in the second, six in the fourth and three in the fifth on 10 hits, three errors and eight walks.

Sugar Creek tallied once in the second and third on eight scattered hits.

For the winners at bat, Abney Robertson, Shelton and Cline had two hits, while Boyett and Cavenader had one safety each.

Rauh and Griffith led the losers' offensive attack with two hits each, and Cushman, Baldwin, Wilson and McDonald collected one safety apiece.

Boyett was the winning pitcher and Karnes took the loss.

Owens allowed only six hits and struck out nine, as Dairy Brand crushed Pankey's, 16-4.

Dairy Brand scored five runs in the first, six in the third and five in the fourth on seven hits, six errors and eight walks.

Pankey's scored one in the first, two in the third and one in the fifth on six hits, an error and three walks.

Schnierle, McKeever and Owens had two hits and Lamer had one for Dairy Brand at bat.

For the losers at the plate Hunt had three hits, Banks two and Hill had one safety.

Hunt was the losing pitcher.

Stan's Game—Musial's Homer In 12th Brings National League Nearer Goal of All-Star Game Rule

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP)—Thank to one sweet swing by Stan (The Man) Musial, who wasn't even invited to the party, the National league stood at last today within sight of its long-cherished goal—the All-Star game.

The dramatic 6-5 triumph produced by Musial's mighty wallop in the 12th inning of the "dream game" at County Stadium Tuesday now has cut the American league's lead in this annual series to just 13 games to nine.

That's a far cry from just six years ago when the Americans led by 12-4 and a National league comeback seemed a mighty dismal hope indeed.

Now Musial's dramatic blast in c-Musial, St. L., lf, on a "too high" pitch by Frank Sullivan of the Boston Red Sox, has extended the National league surge to five victories in the last six games and given "senior" circuit officials hope they will even the series in the years just ahead.

But come what may in the future, the 1955 All-Star classic goes into the history books as "Stan's Game."

Passed Up By Fans

Passed up by the fans, who voted Ted Kluszewski of Cincinnati into the role of starting first baseman for the National league instead of Stan, the St. Louis Cardinal star was rushed into the game as a substitute outfielder and wound up by smashing three big All-Star records.

For one, he became the first player to appear in 12 All-Star games.

For another, his homer was his fourth, breaking the All-Star record of three he had shared with Ted Williams.

And finally, his game-winning blast also was his 14th All-Star hit, another mark.

Musial's smash, on Sullivan's first pitch in the last half of the 12th inning, struck like the crack of doom for an American league team that had blown a five-run lead.

Sullivan, who said he tried to throw a fast ball "low and tight," admitted the pitch came in "too high." Musial said he was sure it was a homer "as soon as I hit it."

Second Overtime Game

It was the second extra-inning game in All-Star history. Oddly enough, the first—a 14-inning affair in 1950—was broken up by a homer by Red Schoendienst.

Musial's roommate on the Cardinals. There was no hint of such a wind-up as the game began with the underdog American leaguers ripping into starting pitcher Robin Roberts of the Phillies for four runs in the first inning. Harvey Kuenn and Nellie Fox ripped Roberts for singles, and Kuenn scoot-led home on a wild pitch by control artist Roberts. Then Mantle followed with what seemed the "crusher," a three-run homer over the 402-foot centerfield fence.

The A. L. boosted the margin to 5-0 with a sixth inning run off Harvey Haddix on Yogi Berra's single and Al Kaline's double. It looked like the Americans were home free; instead they were washed up.

Conley Gets Win

Don Newcombe of Brooklyn (one inning), Sam Jones of Chicago (one) and Gene Conley of Milwaukee (one) shut out the A. L. the rest of the way. Conley, last year's losing pitcher, got the win this time for striking out the side in the 11th inning.

Meanwhile, the N. L. struck back to tie the score with two runs in the seventh and three in the eighth all off Whitey Ford of the Yankees.

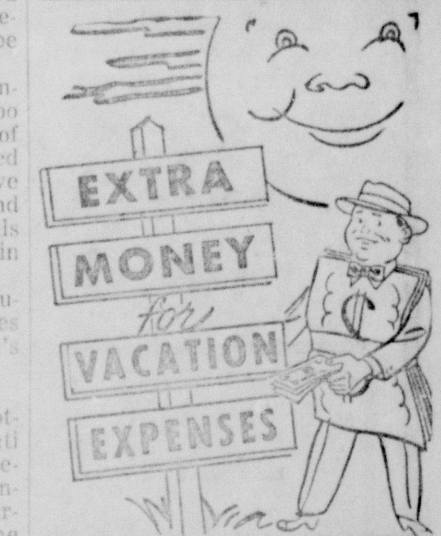

Willie Mays of the Giants touched off both rallies with singles. In the seventh, he moved to second on Hank Aaron's walk and scored on Johnny Logan's single. When Chico Carrasquel booted Stan Lopata's grounder, Aaron scored, too, to make it 5-2. In the eighth, Kluszewski, Ransom Jackson, and Aaron singled behind Mays. Jackson took third on Aaron's blow and scored the tying run when outfielder Al Kaline's throw went through third-base man Al Rosen.

That set the stage for "Stan The Man."

Musial, named to the squad as a sub by Manager Leo Durocher of the Giants, was sent into the game by Durocher in the fourth inning in left field. Under All-Star rules, which require the starters to play at least three innings, that was the soonest Stan could appear.

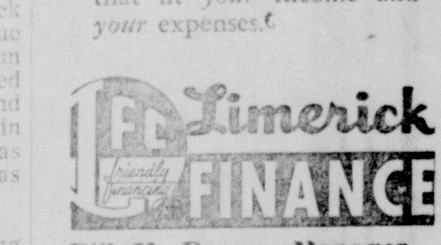

Durocher couldn't have made a smarter move.

IT HAPPENED IN SOUTHERN ILLINOIS:

Hidden Secrets of the 'Shawnee Hills'

By IRVIN PEITHMAN
Southern Illinois University
(The following is an excerpt from Irvin Peithman's new book, "Echoes of the Red Man," published by Exposition Press, New York. The John Allen series will be continued by various contributors pending Mr. Allen's serious illness.)

In the Ozark hill country now known as the Shawnee Hills, there are many overhanging cliffs called rockshelters that show evidence of having been used as living places by prehistoric Indians.

For many years Joe and Charles Thomas of Cobden have probed and delved into the mysteries and happenings of the former inhabitants in the rock shelters of Union and Jackson counties. Some finds and observations have been reported in the Journal of the Illinois State Archaeological Society under the title of "Dust, Bones and Rocks," which sheds some light on prehistoric happenings of the past in southern Illinois.

A rock shelter near Prairie du Rocher along the Mississippi River bluffs in Randolph county has produced a date of over 10,000 years when Indians of the early Archaic Period lived at this site. The Illinois State Museum and University of Chicago Archaeologists took samples of charcoal from an ancient fire-hearth 26 feet below the present surface of the ground at this site in 1953. Carbon 14 tests of this material gave the above date, the oldest dated Indian site east of the Mississippi River. This site is now being further investigated by the Illinois State Museum for still older Indian remains.

Stone Walls Unexplained

When man first came to this area of southern Illinois remains a secret. However, the mystery will someday be solved in the milder or dirt fill of the rock shelters in the "Shawnee Hills."

There are also the remains of nine stone walls built across high cliffs, that have not been satisfactorily explained by archaeologists of the Twentieth Century. These stone walls made of flat sandstone slabs, laid without benefit of mortar have for over 100 years been called Stone Forts and Pounds. Were they built by some of the Indians who lived at different times in the rock shelters in the area? The remains of one of these stone walls is located on a bluff top with-

Legion Commander At Effingham Convention, July 17

Irving Breakstone, Illinois Legion commander, of Chicago, will be the principal speaker when the Fifth Division Legion convention business session convenes in Effingham, on Sunday, July 17.

Effingham Post No. 120, host to the 35,000 Legionnaires of southern Illinois, has announced a full program for the two day convention, July 16-17, which has taken nearly all available housing in Effingham.

The Division parade on Sunday, at 2 p. m., will feature over twenty bands and drum corps, representing four states, in addition to many drill teams and floats. Billed as the parade of champions, the Sunday parade will be highlighted by the appearance of three national champion bands and two state champions.

Saturday, July 16, activities include the Forty and Eight torch-light parade, the convention grand ball, and the coronation of the Fifth Division Queen, to be chosen from a field of sixteen.

In anticipation of an overflow crowd at the Legion Home during the convention ball, Effingham Elks and Knights of Columbus have arranged for special Legion dances Saturday evening.

Conventioners will visit the new $4,500,000 St. Anthony's Memorial hospital in a special tour after Sunday's parade.

Earlier Marriages Plan Of Wells College Girls

AUBURN, N. Y. (AP)—Wells College girls plan to marry earlier in life than did their mothers and grandmothers.

A recent survey of some 230 young women at the college showed that 180 expect to work between graduation and marriage; 186 expect to help their husbands get started on their own careers by continuing to work after marriage, and 202 expect to quit work with the arrival of their first child.

As to the choice of a husband, the girls plan to rely strictly on romantic love, letting it outweigh such considerations as to the level of each partner's education, race, and religion, family background and financial circumstances.

In several hundred yards of several rock shelters southeast of Cobden.

Speculation as to who built these ancient stone structures has ranged from early Indian hunters to Indians of a later period. Some still entertain the idea that possibly the Spaniards or French erected them as game traps or forts; however, there is no tangible proof in the form of records or even traditions to justify this idea.

Some of the clues as to the age or antiquity of man in southern Illinois may be found in some of the old Archaic Indian sites in which the Southern Illinois University Museum will be excavating this summer in the Cache River Valley.

Don't Blame Summer--We're Getting Warmer and Warmer Every Year

By JOHN ROBBINS
NEA Special Correspondent
CLEVELAND (NEA)—Think it's hot this summer? No wonder. Over the past 50 years, America has been getting warmer and warmer.

And you'd better get used to the heat. It looks as though the country is going to get hotter still—maybe much hotter.

This isn't a question of tomorrow's weather, of course. Your town may have a cool snap to night, a cold spell in August, and a real bristler of a frigid winter next year.

But the climate, which is the cumulative record of the weather over a period of years, decades, and centuries, seems to be changing. As climate changes go, it's happening at a startlingly rapid rate.

Over the years ahead, our summers are probably going to be longer and our winters milder, with less and less snow and ice. Fifty years from now winters in most parts of the United States and even some of Canada may be marked by only occasional short freezes.

These are estimates made on the basis of the work of some of the top scientific minds in America.

Since the U. S. Weather Bureau began collecting reliable figures from all over the country about 60 years ago, the normal mean temperature has climbed by about two degrees.

The change hasn't been uniform. It has been felt far more, for instance, in the north than in the south. Temperatures in Cleveland, for instance, have climbed by three degrees in 80 years of official records, while temperatures in Miami have not risen significantly.

In two regions, the Great Basin and central Canada, there even seems to have been a slight cooling-off in the past 40 years.

But in general the trend is up. Cleveland, which used to have average January temperatures of 26.5, for the past 10 years has enjoyed the 30.5 average that used to be typical of Cincinnati. Cincinnati, meanwhile, has climbed to the old Washington, D. C., mid-winter level of 35.5, while Washington Januaries have soared to a 10-year average of 39.1.

Two degrees may not sound like much. But scientists believe that an increase only that great all over the world would be enough to melt every scrap of ice at both the North and South Poles. That much melt-ice would raise the levels of the oceans of the world by 180 feet.

Buried deep in the closing pages of the 1954 report of the authoritative National Science Foundation are these words on climate:

"Glacier studies have given clear indications that we are now in a cycle of warming which began about 1900.

"It is estimated that if the indicated warming continues for another 25 to 50 years, the ice will melt out of the Arctic Ocean in the summer, making it navigable.

"In addition, the warming cycle, if continued, may melt enough ice now tied up in glaciers to add to the sea level sufficiently to affect the lives of millions of people living along low coastal lands."

Carolyn Endsley To Attend FHA Leadership Conference

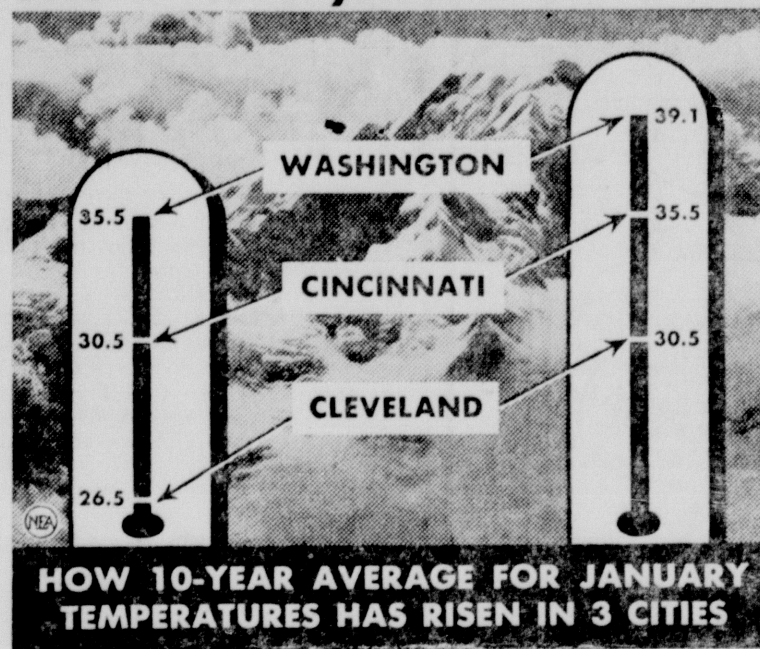

Carolyn Endsley

Carolyn Endsley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Endsley, Harrisburg, has been selected by the Harrisburg chapter of Future Homemakers of America as a delegate to the 15th annual Illinois State Leadership Training Conference to be held July 25 through July 29 at East Bay Camp, Lake Bloomington, Ill.

Carolyn is a senior at the Harrisburg Township high school and is president of her local FHA chapter. Next year she will also serve as section officer. Her special responsibility at the 1955 conference will include being a member of the finance committee.

The Future Homemakers of America is a national organization of high school pupils who are registered in homemaking courses. The five-day conference is devoted to leadership and personal training.

The nearest Arctic glaciers to the United States are in Greenland 1,000 miles to the north of New England; in Baffinland 1,000 miles north of Lake Superior, and in Alaska 750 miles north of Washington.

Here are some of the important developments that scientists equate with the trend toward warmer weather:

In Greenland the ice has retreated beyond limits it is known to have occupied for 500 years. In the Alps, hotels built 50 years ago to take advantage of a sweeping view over a glacier are now out of sight of the ice in the summertime.

In the Southwest, continued water shortage is partly due to man's impact on the land. But climatologists believe the extended nature of the drought has a direct tie with the melting of the Arctic ice pack 3,000 miles to the north.

In Canada, almost every year farmers push the boundary of wheat culture northward. A longer growing season, milder winters, and harder plants combine to supply the reasons.

In northern waters, Greenland Eskimos are reported to have given up seal-hunting, because the seal have disappeared toward the Arctic. In their place the Eskimos now depend for food and oil on cod, which have migrated from the Grand Banks.

New storm patterns have brought hurricanes and tornadoes to New England, and violent tidal inundations to England and Holland.

Skeptics still insist that grandfather's idea about the winters getting warmer is all in his head. The statistics show otherwise.

To pick up the nap in suede In the town of Icod in the Can- shoes, handbags, jackets and other nary Islands off northwest Africa suede apparel, hold a steam iron stands the largest dragon tree in, an inch above the nap and steam the world, reputedly 3,000 years thoroughly. Now They're Saving Smoke for More Nylons, Plastics, Vitamins

By JAMES G. CROSSLEY
NEA Staff Correspondent
CLEVELAND — (NEA) — When the smoke and soot's a-blowing over city and town, the populace may be pumping nylon stockings into their lungs. Or vitamin pills.

The American Steel & Wire Division of U. S. Steel has just completed a five-year rebuilding program of its coke and coal chemical plant here. In the process they've nudged the Chemical Age along a step.

Not only will Cleveland's air be less polluted, but countless children will play with toys which otherwise would have gone to the four winds. The charms of womanly beauty will be enhanced many times over by the fumes which could have been a health menace.

Myriad are the useful things which come from a lump of coal. To make steel, endless quantities of fierce-burning coke are needed. Coke is just coal with the more easily burned gases out of it.

But what gases! When men began to get a clear glimpse of what chemistry meant, they saw that annoying smoke contained the building blocks by which many useful things could be made.

Creosote to preserve wood and tar for roads and roofs have long been with us. But as the structure of molecules was tinkered with strange new products came out of the long wasted fumes that result when coal is burned.

There are the miracle fabrics which improve on nature's own, that wear longer and resist wrinkling. Plastics came. They range from gossamer, plant tissues to the toughies that rival the strength of metal.

The detergents were made possible by the fumes. The glue which makes plywood the giant it is, in building, as well. Insulation for wires, molded cabinets for TV sets, water-proofing for clothing, fertilizer to make crops grow, synthetic rubber, dyes, DDT and other insecticides, lacquers — all were there.

There were others, ranging from essences for beguiling perfumes to deadly TNT.

And for the well-being of mankind came drugs—the sulfas, vitamins, aspirin and saccharin among them.

U. S. Steel says the end is not yet. "There is a promise of a vast, unrealized potential of things now unknown, but yet to come."

By a heart-warming coincidence, the smog which was a threat to health is being made to yield chemicals which make lives longer and easier.

New Courthouse Brings Boom in Etiquette

EDINBURG, Tex. —When Hidalgo County officials moved into a new $1,500,000 courthouse here, the judges of the four courts in the building signed an order designed to correct certain courtroom practices.

The order set these six rules:

1. Attorneys shall wear coats and ties.

2. Bailiffs, clerks and other officers of the court shall also wear

West Frankfort Group Calls On State Officials

SPRINGFIELD —A delegation from West Frankfort Tuesday called on state officials to seek location of a fish hatchery near the city.

Mayor John Heaton said other aims of the visit included locating a driver's license examining station at West Frankfort and further arrangements for a public works program.

With Heaton were Clarence Smothers, superintendent of Frankfort township, Aden Summers, Benton, Republican county chairman, and Rep. C. R. Beckmeyer (R-Nashville). They conferred with Conservation Director Glen D. Palmer about the fish hatchery.

The Conservation Department has plans for a $145,000 fish hatchery somewhere in southern Illinois to be built within the next 18 months.

Heaton said Secretary of State Charles F. Carpenter promised the delegation he will open a driver's license examining station in West Frankfort.

Heaton said he talked with Garrett W. Keaster, executive secretary of the Illinois Public Aid Commission, about the program to work public aid recipients on city works projects. He said the program is underway and has proved beneficial.

coats and ties.

3. No smoking.

4. All persons in the courtroom shall rise when the judge enters on the opening and closing days of the session.

5. Attorneys shall stand while addressing the court.

No wonder this great '55 Pontiac is setting all-time sales records!

It's bigger, smarter and more powerful than any other car at anything like the price!

A sales success like Pontiac's starts on the drawing boards—with engineers and designers who have been schooled for years in the Pontiac idea of giving more people more car for less money.

Take the matter of size. With its long 122" or 124" wheelbase and extra, big-car heft, Pontiac provides road-hugging comfort and a safe, secure feeling you get in no other car near it in price!

Now take this big, roomy car and surround it with the unmatched distinction of Twin-Streak styling and Vogue Two-Toning—beauty that obviously is calling the turn on the future —and you have another reason for Pontiac's phenomenal sales success.

That alone would be enough for most cars—but not for Pontiac!

Pontiac corners the market on value with the most powerful engine within hundreds of dollars of its price. The sensational 200-horsepower Strato-Streak V-8 with four-barrel carburetor* is the newest, most modern power you can buy. In acceleration and in passing power you're on even terms with anything on the road. And still more in your favor is the fact that today's Pontiac is bettering even its own enviable reputation for dependability and economy!

If by now you're thinking "This is what I've wanted all along!", we suggest you stop in and talk dollars and cents. That's when you'll get the final reason for Pontiac's record popularity—the fact that you can fit a big, powerful, future-fashioned Pontiac into any new-car budget! You'll never find it easier to get into the fine-car class than right now!

Coats High-Waisted, Lines are Easy

Fall's slim, straight look for coats (whether fitted or not) is well demonstrated in these fashions from New York's top designers. Gold fleece casual coat (left) has high waist pockets, semi-fitted look. This is by Originals. Ben Zuckerman does a navy wool coat (center) lined in American broadtail and worn over companion dress in navy blue wool jersey. Lines of coat are straight; dress is a simple sheath shaped to the body so that it can be worn belted or unbelted. Oatmeal beige tweed coat (right) by Harry Frechtel has patch pockets, half belt at back, single deep pleat for walking ease. This is for town or country wear.

Newspapers' National Ads Running at All-Time Peak Rate of $650,000,000

National advertisers are currently buying newspaper space at an all-time record rate of $650,000,000 a year, Harold S. Barnes, director of the Bureau of Advertising, American Newspaper Publishers Association, declared today, while retail advertising at the same time is setting new highs.

Noting that "virtually every newspaper lineage record in the book" was broken in May by the 120 newspapers covered by Media Records' 52-city index, Mr. Barnes said that if the rate of increase of the first five months continues throughout 1955, the year's dollar volume of national newspaper advertising will reach a higher peak than has ever been attained by any national medium.

"The proof seems clear," Mr. Barnes went on, "that newspaper advertising, on the part of both manufacturer and retailer, is playing a bigger and more productive role than ever in sustaining the dynamic growth of our national economy. More advertisers, both national and retail, are using more newspaper advertising for the simple but powerful reason that newspaper advertising pays off so clearly at the cash register."

Media Records' 52-city May report established new records in every major area of newspaper advertising.

National advertising, it indicated, showed the highest five-month figures in history; general (national other than automotive) had its best May; and automotive turned up its best performance for any month of any year on record.

Retail advertising, with a gain of 8.3 per cent, also racked up its highest May total in history. The department store segment of retail, also at a record level for the month, gained 8.0 per cent over May, 1954.

The gains, Mr. Barnes pointed out, are by no means confined to the relatively larger newspapers included in Media Records' 52-city index. A spot check by the Bureau of Advertising of 211 smaller newspapers reporting via five regional newspaper organizations showed an aggregate national advertising gain for May of 16.5 per cent, and a combined increase for the first five months of 4.4 per cent.

Mr. Barnes disclosed the fact that many retailers are planning increased promotion budgets for the summer months, a period when seasonal drops have often occurred in newspaper advertising—and advertising generally—in the past.

Many product classifications, Mr. Barnes pointed out, are contributing to the heavy increases in national newspaper advertising. Indicated, he said, are substantial gains in grocery products advertising (baking products, dairy products and laundry soaps among others); housing equipment and supplies; insurance; medical products; public utilities; radio and television receivers and broadcasting stations; transportation (airlines, bus lines, railroads, etc.); wearing apparel; gasoline and oil; passenger cars, and tires.

Pharmacy Bill Is Signed by Gov. Stratton

SPRINGFIELD — Gov. William G. Stratton signed bills into law which will:

Create a board of pharmacy in the Registration and Education Department for the regulation of the practice of pharmacy.

Require school districts which owe neighboring districts debts on assets of reorganized territory to issue bonds without referendum for payment of these debts.

Appropriate $148,000 for the agriculture premium fund for "Land of Lincoln" breeders awards for purebred or registered livestock of Illinois residents exhibited at the 1955 state fair.

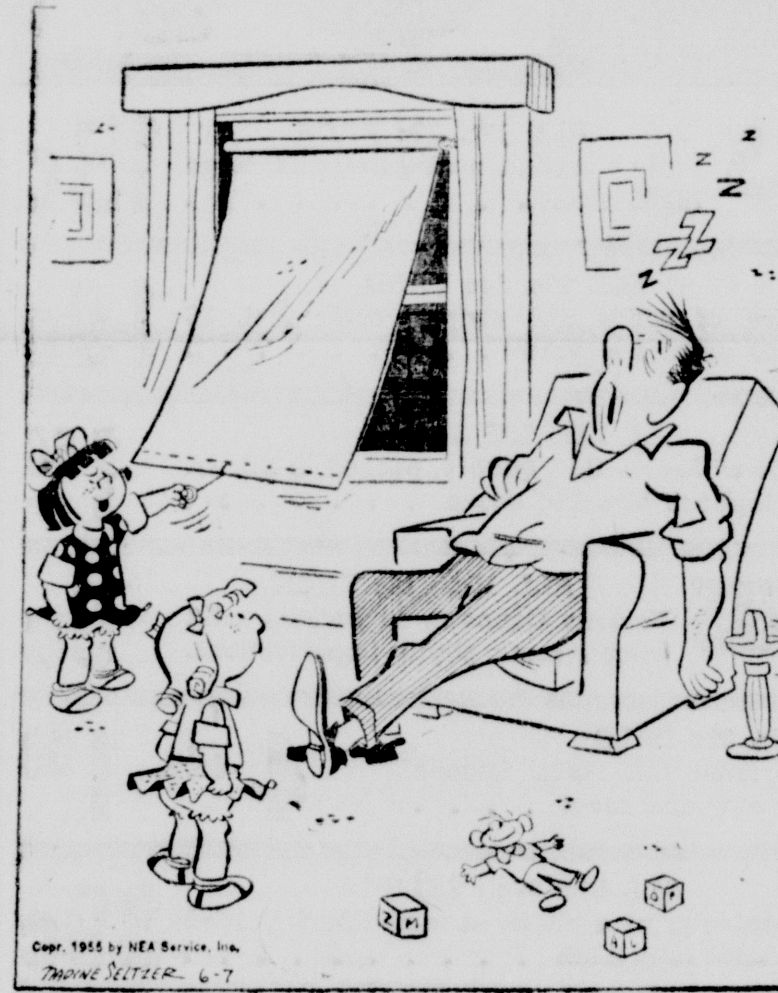

Repeal the present grain warehousing act and appropriate $75,000 to the Illinois Commerce Commission for administering a new act. Seed and seed grain are exempted from the act, which provides for licensing and regulation of grain warehouses.

The governor vetoed a bill to establish an Illinois municipal public utility employees annuity and benefit fund for employees of municipal public utilities.
